How to protect against NOROVIRUS

“Norovirus is a seasonal infection that sees cases rise in the fall into the winter and tail off in the summer. So as the weather gets colder and cases rise, it is more important than any other time of year to know how the disease is spread and the steps that can be taken to mitigate the risk. Please take some time to review the attached document. If you have employees who handle exposed, ready-to-eat foods, consider printing out some copies and hanging them in places where employees can see them.”

by Chef Jeff Johnson

Chef Jeff with 3J's Catering has written a seasonal cook book! Click the picture to order today!

"The changing seasons offer a unique opportunity for celebration, warmth, and cherished memories, often accompanied by culinary creativity as we seek out fresh flavors year-round. Many people desire new dishes to break the monotony of everyday cooking, which inspired me to create Seasonal Roots. This cookbook is designed to simplify your cooking experience and serve as a versatile culinary companion throughout all seasons."

If you have original products for sale through your catering business, please notify Amanda. We would love to feature and support you!

Did you hear about the new Hot Food Program portal?!

Each vendor should have received a log in for your personalized portal. Please let us know if there is something you would like to see in addition, or any other questions/comments you may have. We hope you are using this great resource it to it's full potential.
